

FUNNELLING HUMANS

EV's Before

You bought an EV because it was sold to you as being better than a petrol or diesel vehicle. At the time the price was much lower and more charge points were being constructed and also the price was low because the laws did not tax the EV's in the same way.

EV's Now

You have a vehicle with a lithium battery that driving is the same as standing next to a running microwave oven and has the possibility of exploding or rapidly catching fire that cannot be extinguished, that spews out toxic gas and smoke harmful to health. And on top of that the laws have changed, it's now more expensive than petrol and diesel vehicles and doesn't go as far and you have to wait for it to charge up and goes less distance in the cold, can be geo-fenced, intercepted and hacked and your movements are being tracked and monitored by the car company and the state.

Results

So, what was once sold to you as a marvellous wondrous new amazing thing, that will save you money and save the planet at the same time! Yada, blah, blah! Was bs!

Checkouts Before

Remember when checkouts had humans working them, you could have a pleasant brief conversation, and they could assist your specific enquiries and wish you a good day. When workers and employees were rewarded for their hard work for the corporation etc. Bonuses, pensions, and company perks as part of the salary package deal.

Checkouts Now

Not a human in sight! You hardly see a real human check-out assistant because all their jobs have been farmed out to the “self-checkouts” now so you as a customer do the job for the Human who used to work there.

On purpose the human operated check-outs are not open, and the only option is to go to the self-checkout. Leaving you with no human interaction available in ever more increasing retail and other once peopled environments.

Results

Less human job positions, less wages, “flexible” hours, can’t talk to a self-checkout yet, needs a human to authorise some items and with one human operator per 6 till points you are increasing the work load on an individual worker by having less other checkout workers and staff.

These are all examples of human funnelling.

Social Media Funnelling

People sign up to a social media platform such as fb, which comes with its own messaging service. We then find out that the owner is doing what we disagree with and think is immoral, yet we stay subscribed to the platform and justify ourselves as using it for good.

Yet the fact checkers, the restrictions or time period block, the demonetisation, the shadow banned etc.

Social Media Platforms Before

When you subscribed to these platforms at first it was seemingly harmless, a way to be sociable or get informed or earn money from an online business.

Social Media Platforms Now

Not realising it was a way to reduce your ability to communicate freely without scrutiny or having your data harvested or restrictions placed on your free speech and expression.

Results

You start off by agreement, you embark on that ship, you are given a wide access to new things. You then are told your terms and conditions have changed and do you agree to them? You agree and then you find out that you are now not receiving the paid version that has all the original options, you now have adverts and less options. You now have less of a service than when you started and you now have to pay extra for the thing you originally signed up for.

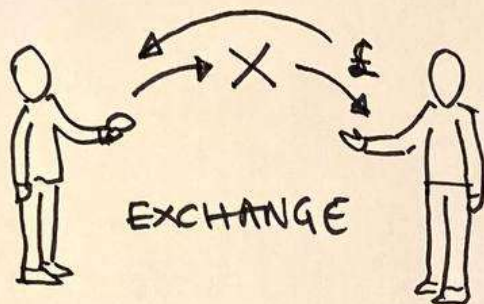

Meanwhile your freedom of speech is now controlled, the friends you make are online on these platforms. Business is on these platforms, all of life is on them. Meanwhile in the real world your options are being withdrawn. Home phones out of fashion, owning products out of fashion etc etc.

Slowly, bit by bit, option by option, terms of update by terms update, we comply with the new contracts, yet under more and more restrictions and less and less options. This is how humans are funnelled into systems which they become entangled within, and then dependant on. This dependency is then also used against you.

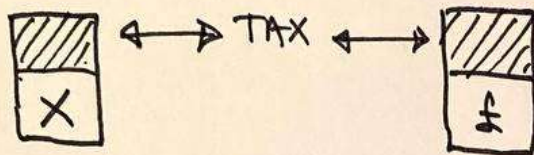

The irony is that these systems of control are now being dismantled, people are choosing to go organic lifestyle, off grid, use tech to communicate encrypted messages, getting communities organised. They are rejecting the slavery and fakery in favour of real and honest.

The technology itself will reveal all the corruption as crime will not be able to remain hidden. These times offer great opportunity to those who have come away from the slave matrix. An advantage of sanity over all the madness of the illusion. We are even adapting the technologies to enable holistic lifestyle and more abundance. It's not all doom and gloom, it's a time for new ventures and different ways because the old system is collapsing as we speak. We can do wonderful new things without limits. Bring it on!
