

A.I. Sold as “Good”

Regressive “bad” Artificial Intelligence

Will never look like an evil thing. It will charm and entice you, lure and enchant you with all sorts of alleged benefits. It will be sold to you as a “good” thing that will benefit you, or you will lose out and others will gain advantage over your business. A.I. that is designed by nefarious minds will not present itself but will use deceit and fashion and trends and imperatives justifying itself and its “essential” purpose instead.

Aware of the Methods

As part of the dark agendas to take over humanity, our consciousness and our free will, it is important to become aware of some of the methods in which this assault on our free will is being attempted.

Some of the methods are to use toxins and poisons under the guise of healthcare vaccinations from birth, sold as being necessary for preventing harm or conditions that can cause harm.

POISONS

Autism

Autism is caused by aluminium and barium on the brain, two substances that do not naturally occur in humans. So they must have been put there in some way. I will state clearly that it was from the damage of being “vaccinated” that causes autism and it’s been covered up by big Pharma. See Vaxxed 1 & 2 movies for more data on that.

Perfecting Poisons

For many years the deep state has been perfecting their agenda to poison and damage us through our foods. This has been established by a German scientist called Fritz Haber, who proposed mind control of the population through chemicals in the food supply and drinks etc. Big Pharma diagnostics and conditions have also been created to treat invented conditions with infected causes and names. The whole science of virology is false.

Conditions like Alzheimer’s or Dementia, diabetes and auto/immune deficiencies etc. All from glyphosate or toxic pesticides and herbicides in the crops that then poison the parent who gives birth to a gluten intolerant or wheat or dairy or nut allergies. Spawning a food product industry of allergy “free from” products to then sell to those affected.

Disrupted Source Signals

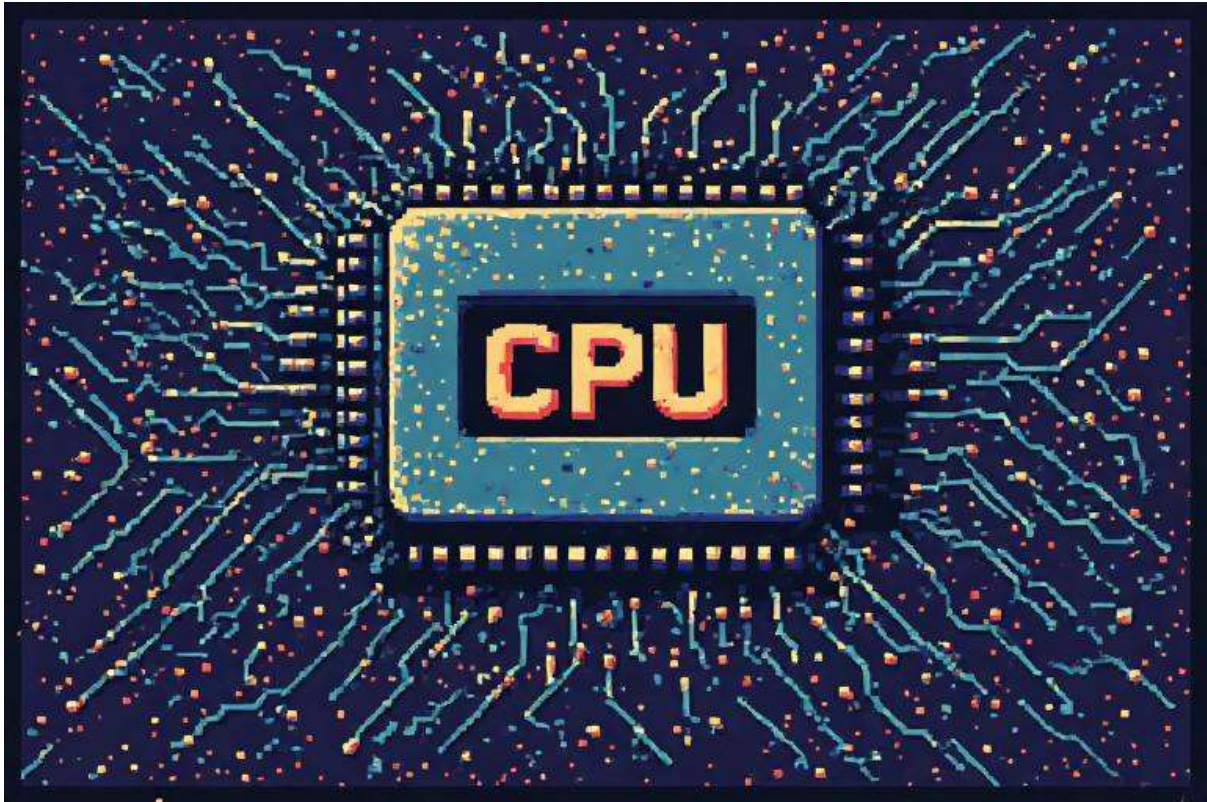

Autism disrupts the signal and so disrupts the consciousness of an individual so that they cannot be fully conscious or self-aware. They are responsive to external commands and functions but not capable of self-assessment to varying degrees depending on their vaccine damage.

Parents Not to Blame

This is not a blame game and there are many people who will think that this info here is speculation or fake, which is the reason why they were harmed because they believed their programming and didn’t do research to find out if that was true. There are many parents who were hypnotised into believing in a state medical system that deceived them and made them harm themselves or their children under the Trojan horse of preventing harm.

Removing Corn & Seed oils and Soy from the diet, adding vitamin D, A2 Protein milk and supplements of Selenium help to reduce and remove autism along with an improved diet and a heavy metal detox like chelation.

Of course, this info means nothing to people who are fully signed up to the belief in the national health service and their management and medical advice. There is no point helping people who believe in a system that harms them under the premise it heals people. It has to perform proper healing services in order to pass the other harmful services to profit from. So that is why there is a dichotomy of opposites healing and harming.

Bigger Agendas

There is a bigger agenda at play here, and most people are completely unaware of it. Even the people who come to the idea of developing such ideas, or weapons to control and harm others. They are being influenced by forces which they most likely know nothing about. I will get to that.

Undetected

Germany never lost the war, they just signed a peace treaty. The allies were defeated, to the point that even their leaders were denying the true nature of losing the war, and who had actually been part of the groups who funded it. They were all on the same payroll that came from the secret groups to start the war and keep it going.

So a false declaration of winning the war by the allies was presented to the world, the Nuremberg trials went on and the human rights convention was established. But it did not matter because these were psychological tools to give the impression of restoring order to the world. Meanwhile the secret societies and unelected deep state had infiltrated nearly all the main governments around the world and established their rules for controlling the population undetected.

Like it or not

The women's suffragette movement was an artificial social justice movement based on gender equality. It was ironically created by men in secret societies to create division amongst genders. It was sold as fighting for equal rights with men.

Many women at the time it was being artificially inserted as a social engineered movement were opposed to it and many protested against it. Knowing it was a socially engineered "social justice movement."

Natural to Synthetic

Increasing technological advances influenced modern society. Things that were once scarce could be mass produced, and the costs could be reduced for the buyer and consumer via the automation of manufacturing products. Everyone could have luxury and at an affordable price. Consumerism is nothing new, it was developed in ancient times, becoming more sophisticated as technology and civilisation expanded. People started to change their habits as a result. The customer could try new products, and the modern western form of consumerism grew. People started to transition from more natural forms of living to more synthetic forms of living. Less natural light, more time indoors, less natural whole foods to more food products and artificial foods.

Consumerism & Entertainment

In coordination with food and drinks producers the poisons help keep the mind in its trance like state and open to being programmed, as part of being entertained by the media.

Alcohol

Rips holes in your etheric shield and disrupts your Source signal.

Cigarettes

Tobacco and nicotine which are beneficial but laced with 100's of toxic chemicals.

Increasing Technological Grip

In my lifetime I remember when the local shops in my town were all closed on a Sunday, as it was considered a day of rest. But somewhere along the way the government etc decided that trading hours on Sundays should be changed, and you can now trade 7 days a week, 24/7, 365 days a year. This removed the ability to have a day off. Yet was promoted as being able to earn more money on an extra day as a benefit.

New inventions, like radio and then television mesmerised the public with scripted narratives, enabling governments to use their propaganda and sway public opinion. The public were easily convinced because they've been taught to trust authority or fear it through various social engineering programs before radio and television were invented. These psychologically manipulative narratives were already well practiced through the establishment owning the print media.

Radio

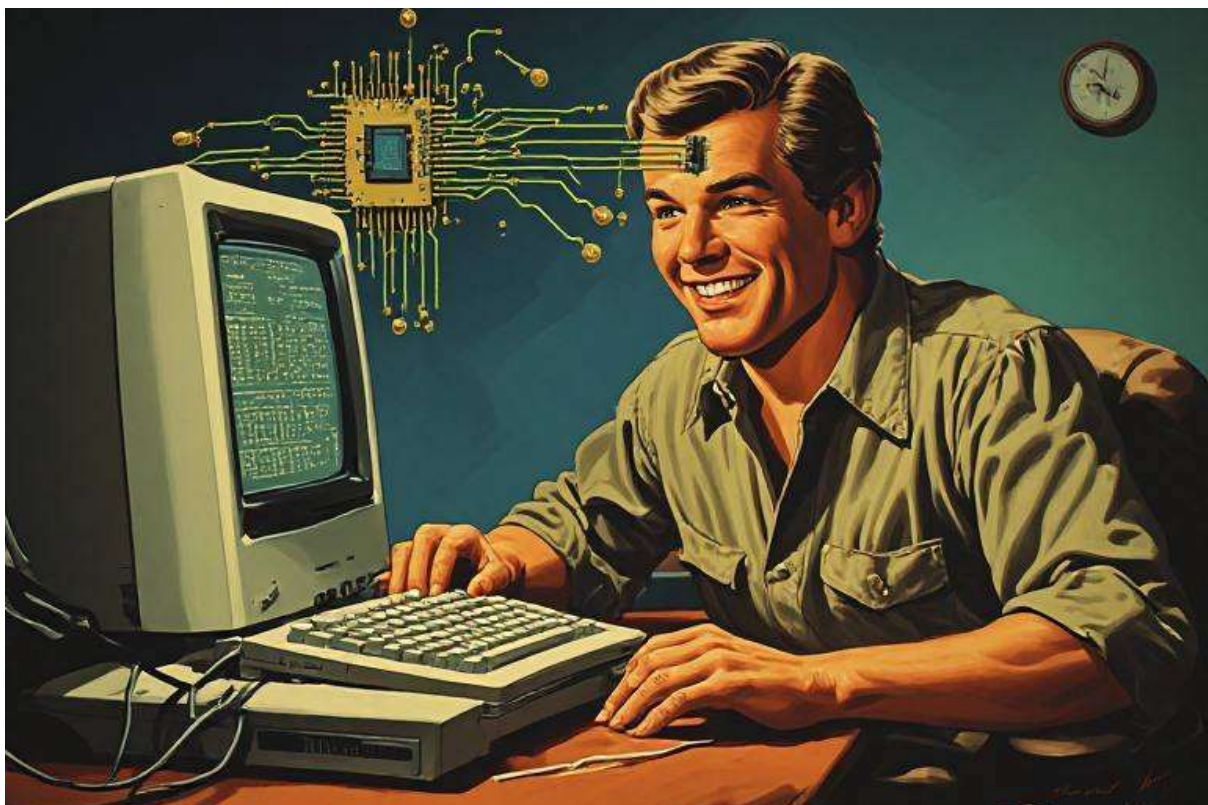

Using sound frequencies became a lot more efficient at programming the population with these scripted narratives. The theatrical element came in, recorded plays with sound effects and news reports etc. Directed by Orson Welles' famous radio broadcast "War of the Worlds" which set the population into reactive panic as a test in October 1938.

Movies & Television

The 1896 silent film L'Arrivée d'un train en gare de La Ciotat (Arrival of a Train at La Ciotat) by the Lumière brothers was alleged to have audience members run out of the cinema thinking the train would run them over.

The Moon landing and many more stories have been created to keep the public in a false reality perception management. Every now and then being means tested for who and how many are reactive to the scripts. They can even analyse the spike in electricity from people putting the kettle on when it's an advert break during a big sporting event, to tell how many people are watching on each TV channel for an example.

Weapons of Mass Destruction, stay at home lockdowns, the great toilet roll panic buy of late Feb & March 2020. These are all fake narratives designed to control the population and their perception of reality.

Analogue to Digital

The list is endless of the things that have been introduced to the public and protested against, yet they were still implemented. Much like climate carbon tax credit digital ID systems are now being built into the fabric and infrastructure of society, whether we like it or not. Other agendas by the people who control the government have more priority than the free will of the population.

Modern A.I. & Ancient Artefacts

As computer and computational development progressed, so too did the options and importance of organised complex information systems. The Turin test, to see if humans can be fooled by a computer, the computer chess game beating grand chess masters, breaking the code of the Nazis at Bletchley Park etc.

Alongside the development of electronics and the use of the Marconi system, communication also became faster and also important.

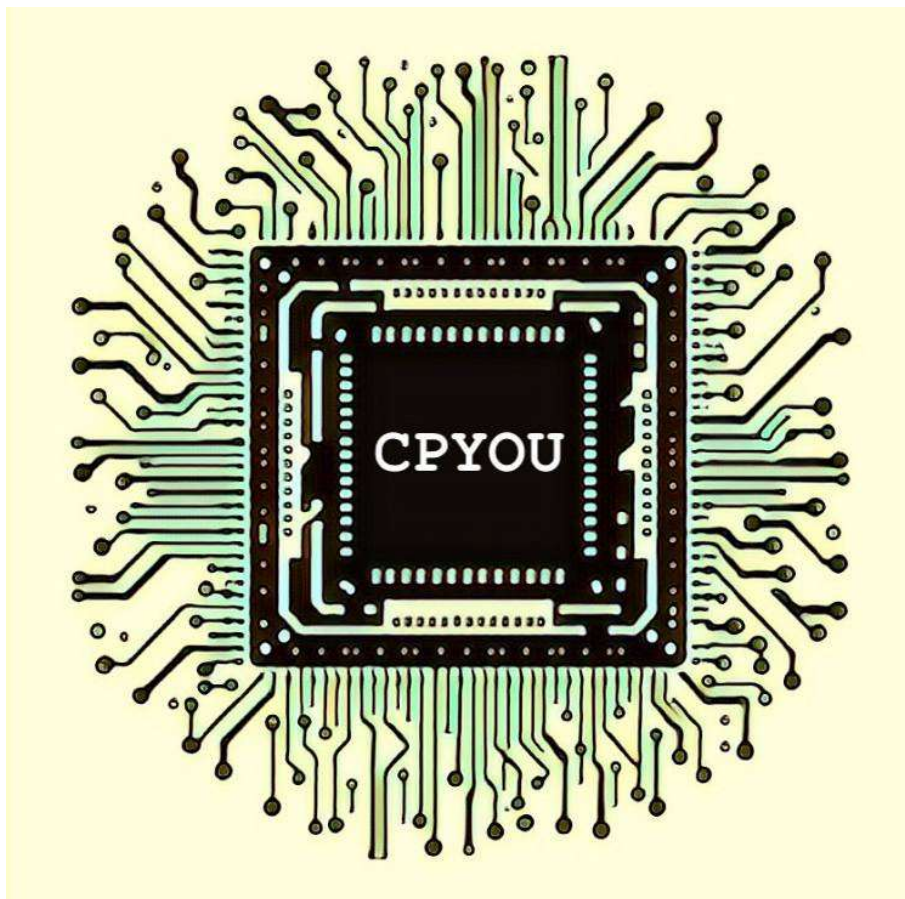

Bypassing Human Free Will

Artificial Intelligence (AI) and central processing unit (CPU) symbols represent the advanced, decentralized nature of a cosmic hive-mind or psychic frequency network. The symbols on the skulls are theorized to function as spiritual "circuitry," allowing the Orion group of ETs to bypass human free will, implant holographic realities, or manage an energetic matrix from afar. These interpretations suggest that human consciousness can be overridden or "programmed" through advanced frequency manipulation that mirrors technological processing

As we have already found out these mRNA shots were not only bioweapons and experimental gene therapies, they were Nano-Tech delivery systems introducing nanotechnology into the human vessel. It is self-assembling and installs itself like software and hardware attaching to another system, in this case a living system, that it uses to power its abilities to function. So, A.I. capable intrusion into the human body itself.

Data Centres

The question is not about whether it is good to have a world in which communication and trade happen. That will always happen. The question is how much of our humanity do we wish to outsource? Because ultimately every time you agree to use it or promote it, this will be in place of another human being doing it. That human being is most likely going to be you!

Bigger A.I. Picture?

Hypnotism of a person is done without their knowledge or even being aware they are under a hypnotic trance. That is the whole point.

It is estimated that A.I. will take 70% of manual and mental jobs from humans. What we should be questioning is not whether A.I. is good or bad, but what are the minds that are creating it like instead?

What are the aims and motives of the “humans” who are forcing A.I. systems upon humanity? Why is there no oversight of corrupt humans that create these weapons of mass control? It’s because they are occultists and wish to enslave and control populations, it’s not from a benevolent mind. It’s from a fatalistic nihilistic mindset that wants to bring all of humanity into its control.

So really, it’s up to each of us to be conscious of what we adopt and whether something sold as really good is actually that? Or just another form of introducing tracking, control and surveillance, etc by the back door sold as trendy things you need for work, business and play, for thinking and doing for you, so you don’t have to live and do it.

I will use A.I. like a tool as any other tool. I will decide and make my own organic executive decisions for me. I will trust my own discernment and not rely on just one source or just A.I. I will always go to a human not a machine at a store and pay as much as I can with cash. I will not let A.I. or automated systems govern my life or control my freedom of movement or free speech. I will not let A.I. or other agencies remove my privacy or independent free will to choose whatever I wish and like and love whatever I wish and form relationships with whoever I wish. A.I. has no heart and soul, it never will replace humans just mimic them. You are the highest tech. A.I. cannot love anyone or anything. You can, game over!
